From the Desk of Bishop Henry

We are told by the apostle Paul not to conform to this world (Romans 12:2). We must make a conscience decision to set the right tone for our lives in this world.

Let us consider the prophet Daniel who resolved not to compromise his convictions and defile himself with food and wine from the royal table (Danial 1:8). As a result, he was healthier and better nourished than other young men. Then in Daniel chapter 3 he chooses to stand against the culture of man and refuses to worship any other god. For this decision he and his friends are thrown into the fiery furnace and their faith in God kept them safe. Are your life convictions like Daniel's?

Come let's study and grow together!
